Hi Piyush,

I am Shruti from Newzera, and I'm super excited to connect with you!! :)

Ours is a start-up based on Robo-journalism. With the intention to create a world-class platform, one that would be in the league of technical giants, we are building a team of like-minded, skilled and passionate co-workers. For more information you can visit our LinkedIn Page or subscribe to Newzera.

We are in stealth mode, so I cannot venture into specific details.

We're chasing a dream and do not want to let the days go by. So without wasting any more time let me quickly apprise you about the hiring process.

To start with, we have a series of cognitive assessments which are later followed by a couple of field specific rounds. You would then speak with our hiring manager when you come for the interview round. We've options for an online interview if you're away and you also have an opportunity to come for an onsite interview to see how we function to bring this idea to life.

Lookout for two links from FlexiQuiz for your first round of interview. It will have two links to the set of cognitive assessments that you are required to solve as part of the first round of our interview process.

You can always reach us here for any queries or doubts and can also schedule a call with us if you'd like to speak with us and we'll definitely get back to you. :)

Wish you all the best, Break a leg!

PFA a document about the Job Role and a PDF to give you a brief insight about who we are. Hope you'll find it interesting and a step closer to our vision.

P.S. We are eager to know you better and it would be a great start if you could share the following. It is an essential part of the evaluation in the further interview rounds.

- Updated resume
- Updated electronic academic transcript
- Availability (number of hours/week and number of weeks available for the Full Time Internship)
- Availability (specific months)
- Type of Internship (Summer, Semester)

These will help us understand the timeline of your internship here.

Cheers,

Shruti Bharadwaj
